DETAILED ACTION

1. The examiner was unable to obtain the non US references from the parent file and will complete the balance of the 1449 at the time of the next office action.
2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
3. Claims 1-14 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Maruyama et al. (U.S. 4,735,778).

Maruyama et al. teaches a microtiter plate, which may be made of a rubber and acrylic material that is used for the display and observation of biological fluids (abstract, col. 6, lines 50-65). The instant invention claims a display with cells with fluid with rubber and a curable compound in the walls. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have selected rubber and acrylic from the material options taught by the reference in order to practice the reference.

Variation of the ratios of the components is taken as being within the ordinary skill of the art.

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claims 1-17 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17 of copending Application No. 09/840,756. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant claims are broader than the claims in the parent case.

Art Unit: 1772

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
